

Companies should mark an M in each square they determine contains a metal object and mark an X in each square they determine does not contain a metal object.

Side of pool